Senate Proclaims Naturopathic Medicine Week, 10/6-12
The United States Senate, for the second year in a row, has unanimously passed AANP's Naturopathic Medicine Week Resolution! Our form of medicine is once again declared to be "safe, affordable, and effective." This year saw the addition of Republican Sen. Kelly Ayotte of New Hampshire and Independent Angus King of Maine to Democratic sponsors Tom Harkin of Iowa and Barbara Mikulski (our lead sponsor once again). Read more

Honey Update 2014
Every year at this time, Rena's Aunt Carmi sends us a new calendar from Israel to mark the start of the new Jewish year. Because honey is traditionally eaten in conjunction with our New Year celebrations, it has also become something a yearly routine at this time for me to search through the medical and scientific literature to see what is new in the realm of honey research. AANP Defends Compounded Medications
AANP is collaborating with the International Association of Compounding Pharmacists (whose interests here parallel our own) as well as with the Integrative Medicine Consortium in developing a joint strategy. In previous comments to the FDA, we’ve emphasized that NDs should be able to continue treating patients with safely compounded medications in the office. Read more
